Jim Higley

Speaker – Award Winning Author – Positive Parenting Advocate

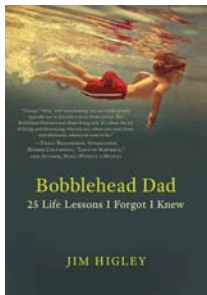

Jim has national experience presenting to parent groups on a variety of family-focused topics.

- Award-winning author of "Bobblehead Dad: 25 Life Lessons I Forgot I Knew"
- Weekly Parenting Columnist for the Huffington Post and Chicago Tribune TribLocal
- Weekly Radio show host of "Bobblehead Dad" - a 30-minute parenting program
- Parent contributor for NBC/Universal iVillage - the world's largest online community of moms & women
- And, believe it or not, he's the reigning "World's Greatest Dad" – which is good for a few chuckles and provides great content for one of Jim's more popular keynotes!

Jim's a single dad – and has raised three kids alone for many years – so he has a broad perspective on child rearing.

He's been referred to as a blend of "Martha Stewart and MacGyver" - which isn't too far from the truth!

Jim's also a cancer survivor— which was the turning-point in his life that gave him the courage to leave his 20+ year corporate career to be a full-time stay-at-home dad and pursue his dream of writing and speaking.
